Primary Use/Purpose: This section describes what this instrument was designed to measure.

This instrument was used for telephone interviews with women named as victims on police reports of domestic violence. A strength is that this approach seeks the opinions and experiences of women who possibly did not seek help from formal sources other than police. One weakness of the instrument is that it was developed in the late 1990s. It requires privacy for respondents to answer honestly, and currently, many women would probably not answer the phone or might not have the same phone number that they gave police.

Background and Development: How and why this instrument was developed.

The instrument was developed in Detroit to reach urban, abused women who were rarely included in formal research. At the time, the Detroit Police Department was in the early stages of developing a domestic violence unit, and the prosecutor's office, along with a few domestic violence programs, were increasing their efforts to provide legal advocacy for abused women. This was an effort to evaluate these interventions from survivors' perspectives. Both the initial interview and the six month follow-up study are included.

This instrument is related to the Telephone Survey for Detroit Domestic Violence Unit, Detroit Police Department.

Psychometrics (if applicable): Any testing of this instrument.

q: intro2 _____

I am calling today to ask you to participate in an interview about your experiences within the legal system related to domestic violence. The purpose of the interview is to learn about how the police, legal services, or advocacy you received affected you. We will be asking about your satisfaction with the services you received related to the incident that took place on <<INSERT DATE OF INCIDENT>>, and involved you and <<INSERT PARTNER NAME>>. This opportunity to share your opinions regarding the services you received will be used to improve services that you or others might receive in the future. This interview will take about 20-35 minutes to complete, depending on your answers. We will send you $15 in McDonald's or Little Caesar's coupons to thank you for your time. Is this a good time for you or can we arrange another time to talk?

q: consent1 _____

Before we begin, I am required to read a consent form to you.

The study is being conducted by Arlene Weisz at the School of Social Work, Wayne State University. The funding for this study is being provided by the US Dept of Justice.

There will not be any direct benefit to you - however, your participation in this study may benefit other people who experience dating or domestic violence now or in the future. This is an opportunity to share your opinions about services you received.

By taking part in this study, you may experience feelings of sadness or anxiety about the things that happened to you. There may also be risks involved in taking part in this study that are not known to researchers at this time. At the end of the interview, I will provide names of services that you might want to call if needed. If at any time during the study there is a concern that child abuse or elder abuse has possibly occurred or if you tell us about a serious threat to harm someone, this information must be released to the appropriate authorities.

INTERVIEWER: PRESS "1" TO CONTINUE

q: consent2 _____

In the unlikely event that this research related activity results in an injury, no reimbursement, compensation or free medical care is offered by Wayne State University, the Detroit Police Dept., or the US Dept of Justice.

All information collected about you during the course of this study will be kept confidential to the extent permitted by law. You will be identified in the research records by a code name or number, not your name.

Taking part in this study is voluntary. You may choose not to take part in this study, or if you decide to take part, you can change your mind later and withdraw. You are free to not answer any questions. Your decision will not change any present or future relationships with Wayne State University or its affiliates or other services you are entitled to receive.
